

EUROPE

Inside Europe: Brides of the World

Many Italians don't agree with their government's tough stance on migration. A small village called Pianoro holds an annual fashion show of wedding dresses worn by local women. This year they have renamed it Brides of the World to showcase their migrant communities' bridal gowns alongside Italian ones. Dany Mitzman, who happens to live in Pianoro — as an immigrant, has this report.

Clicca sull'immagine per ascoltare l'audio

